

Explore the Greek Chorus

Your students will be given an opportunity to participate in a variety of activities inspired by the creators of the theater itself, the ancient Greeks. They will be asked to participate in activities used by England's National Theatre exploring chorus work and ensemble choreography. These exercises require a large space. Students will be asked to explore movement from a collaborative perspective. These activities are perfect for establishing positive relationships among students.